

TRUSTEES' MEETING

BID OF BLYTH-WITTER COMPANY FOR FIRE BONDS REJECTED BY BOARD

The Board of Trustees met in regular session at the City Hall at 8:00 p. m. January 3, 1918. All members present at roll call.

The minutes of the last regular meeting and the Adjourned meetings were read and approved.

On motion of Trustee Grist, it was ordered that bids for the fire bonds be opened, read and publicly declared.

The bid of Blyth-Witter & Company was read, offering $17,000.00 par value of the bonds, with accrued interest to date of delivery, subject to the condition that the City of Glendale pay to the bidder the sum of $490.00 to cover the cost of printing bonds. The bid further specified that unless accepted on this date, the same would be withdrawn. On motion of Trustee Muhleman, the bid was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

A communication was read from the City Clerk of the City of Tropic, giving notice that at the last regular meeting held on the 2nd day of January, 1918, the Trustees of the City of Tropic adopted the following motion:

"Motion by Trustee Henry, regularly seconded and carried that, City Attorney Evans of the City of Glendale be instructed to take charge of case, Daisy Mason vs. various City Officials of the City of Tropic, and that his compensation for services be same as fixed by the City of Glendale for similar work."

On motion of Trustee Muhleman, the communication was ordered to be received and filed.

An application to sell milk was presented from Geo. M. Hollingsworth, and an application for a permit to conduct a dairy presented by Louis Sipple, both being approved by the Milk Inspector, were, on motion of Trustee Woodberry, granted.

Reports were presented from the City Recorder, Health Officer, Building Inspector and Tax Collector, all of which were ordered to be received and filed.

Trustee Muhleman made a motion, which was adopted, that when the Board adjourn, it be to meet Tuesday evening next at 7 o'clock.

A protest was presented from property owners on Milford street against the acceptance by the city of said street as improved, the protest being signed by Lillian E. Empey and eight others.

The Chairman of the Board stated that the legal time for protest expires on January 21st, after which time a date will be set for hearing of all protests.

The City Engineer asked instructions from the Board in regard to sending out notices of assessment for the opening and widening of Sycamore Canyon Road, stating that there would be 1584 assessments for this object. On motion of Trustee Woodberry, the City Engineer was instructed to notify non-resident property owners assessed for the opening and widening of Sycamore Canyon Road by registered letter, and that resident property owners be notified through the Police Department of the City.

The City Engineer presented a written communication in regard to the opening and widening of Sycamore Canyon Road, requesting an extension of time to the extent of sixty days within which the Street Superintendent may complete the assessment. On motion of Trustee Jackson, the communication was received and ordered to be filed and the request for extension of time granted.

In regard to the resolution prepared by the City Engineer presented at the last regular meeting of the Board proposing opening and widening proceedings on a portion of Colorado street near Verdugo Road, Trustee Woodberry reported that he had been unable to get in touch with Mrs. Griswold, the property owner especially interested in the project; action deferred.

Trustee Grist at 8:30 p. m. made a motion, that the Board take a recess of fifteen minutes.

The Board reconvened at 8:50 p. m.

The Chairman of the Board reported from the Committee of the Whole to the effect that the bid of Blyth-Witter & Company, the only bid received for the fire bonds, being for a sum practically below par value of the bonds, could not be legally accepted, and on motion of Trustee Woodberry, the bid was rejected.

Frank Nell who has been in the Methodist hospital in Los Angeles for several weeks, was brought back to Glendale last Saturday and with Mrs. Nell is occupying the new home built for them by the Elks, in which he will be glad to see his old friends.

PLEA FOR PUSSY

MISS OLDS SAYS PRESERVE HOME SPIRIT IN WORKING TO WIN THE WAR

Glendale, Jan. 3, 1918.

Editor of Glendale Evening News: Dear Sir:—In the Saturday, Dec. 29th issue of your paper, you published an article written by Florence Nation Blair, entitled "Kill the Cats." In behalf of pet lovers in general I beg to give a few thoughts on the other side of the question.

Surely no one could wish to convey the idea that they would add any suffering to man or beast at this awful time, when the world already has too much horror to think of. Food conservation is the watchword in the heart and home of every true American, and all are willing to do all that can be done to win the war.

But the only way to win anything is to go steadily about in a quiet, persistent sane way. Hysteria will not get us anywhere. Quotations from our leading men have been used. Men who are dealing with the affairs of the nation—who are all working to preserve the American home spirit, and no one can apply anything that has been said to the innocent pet cat.

Why should the cat be chosen, pray tell? Great numbers of animals are kept in the various parks, to give pleasure to old and young alike. If these stranger animals can give pleasure, think how much more joy a normal person can get from owning a pet, who can welcome you when you come and seems to understand all your moods. All children are better for having some care and responsibility, and with creatures dependent.

CHURCH TO BE SOLD

When the new First Methodist church was erected the community rejoiced with the Methodist people. The whole city felt that the beautiful temple was a community asset. It is one of the buildings which proclaim the growth and progress of the city. But a great many people have forgotten the old church building, which is not old from the standpoint of years, but only in the matter of facilities and capacity for the work of the congregation.

At a recent meeting of the church trustees it was decided to sell the old church and property at public auction. Besides the church building, which could readily be converted into apartments, there are two bungalow buildings, which could be fitted up for rental purposes. The time set for the auction was Friday, February 1. The property is situated at the corner of Third Street and Dayton court.

MISSIONARIES ENJOY FURLOUGH

Rev. and Mrs. Owen E. Jones of 115 West Tenth street, report that Rev. O. A. Hall and his wife (who is their daughter) who are enjoying a furlough in this country, are now in Missouri but are expected in Tropic in February. They will remain on this coast until after the conference of Seventh Day Adventists in San Francisco in March, after which they will return to Shanghai, China, where they have been doing missionary work for the past eight years, and where they have made quite a remarkable record. Within a year after they first entered the work they were able to hold services in the native tongue. Mrs. Hall is a fine musician and is a great help to her husband, particularly in work among the women. Their little thirteen-year-old daughter, Loleta Belle, has picked up the language and speaks, writes and reads like a native. She also is of much assistance in evangelistic work.

HE MADE GOOD

Eugene Moore, who formerly lived at 1614 Colorado, with his parents, Dr. W. M. Moore and wife, and worked in Olfin Spencer's book store until the family moved to Ontario, disappeared from home three months ago and his parents were very uneasy about him until on Christmas day a letter came from him. He stated that he was in San Francisco with a Marine Band and would soon start for Honolulu. Though but 16 years of age, Eugene looks five years older, as he is six feet tall and proportioned accordingly.

INFORMAL LUNCHEON

Mrs. Noble Ripley of 527 Mariposa street, entertained today at an informal luncheon in honor of her cousin, Miss Moore, who has been spending the holidays with the Hobbs family and who leaves for Clarksdale, Arizona, this evening. Covers will be laid for seven, the guest list including Mr. and Mrs. John A. Logan, Mesdames Andrew Stephenson and John Hobbs, Miss Moore and Miss Dorothy Hobbs.

CROWDER WOULD INCREASE DRAFT AGE

PLACING THE MAXIMUM AT FORTY OR FORTY-FIVE ONE OF THE "PROBABILITIES OF THE FUTURE"

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, January 4.—Increasing the draft age from 31 to 40 or 45 years is one of the "probabilities of the future," according to Provost Marshal General Crowder.

"The drafting of older men should be mainly for skilled war labor also, to distribute the burdens of war. There are plenty of younger men for the first line fighting but there is danger of injury to coming generations," Crowder said.

BRITISH ADVANCE SOUTH OF LENS

WILSON ASKS UNRESTRICTED POWERS

PRESIDENT OUTLINES TO CONGRESS STEPS NECESSARY IN GOVERNMENT OPERATION OF RAILROADS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, January 4.—President Wilson today called upon Congress for full and unrestricted powers in conducting the federal operation of the country's railroads.

Before a joint session of the House and Senate he outlined the initial steps necessary for the success of Director General McAdoo's administration of the lines.

The president explained that the action already taken was necessary to secure the complete mobilization of the resources of America by the most rapid and effective means that can be found. "Private interests," he said, "must for the present make way for the public necessity."

President Wilson asked Congress for the necessary means to protect the interest of railway stockholders, measures to protect the traveler and safeguard the private shipper, compensation for the railroads as based on the average net railroad operation income for three years ending June 30, 1917.

It was a plain business message, obviously for the purpose of quieting any unrest that may have developed.

Immediately the president had concluded his address, Representative Simms of the House Interstate Commerce Commission, introduced a bill providing for the carrying out of these recommendations.

MAY APPOINT MINISTER OF MUNITIONS

The bill is intended to expedite and increase the supply of munitions of war.

SERVICE FLAG

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL WILL PRESENT IT TO THE CITY THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Intermediate School at Third and Isabel streets, will present to the city a service flag bearing stars for all the young men who have gone to camps and training ships from Glendale, Tropic and Casa Verdugo. All the pupils in the Intermediate School and as many from other schools as respond to the invitations which are being sent out, will participate in the ceremony. It will be received and accepted by J. S. Thompson, president of the Board of City Trustees, and will be raised on the municipal flag pole at Brand and Broadway. A complete program arranged for the occasion, will be published next week.

This will be of great interest to all the children of this locality, than whom we have no greater patriots. They have proved by their readiness to give service whenever called upon.

In this connection Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, states that a Junior Red Cross will be organized in every Glendale school which will be ready to begin work with the opening of the term the first of February. Red Cross work which the children have performed thus far has been done voluntarily outside of school hours. Under the Junior organization it will be made a part of the regular school curriculum.

COLORADO BLVD. P-T. A.

The Colorado Boulevard P-T. A. spent a very pleasant afternoon, Thursday, January 3, being entertained, after a short business session, mostly by the second, third and fourth grade pupils, by presenting their school plays, doing credit to themselves and their teachers.

The educational chairman asked for a list of books that the mothers would like to see in the library. Miss Waite, chairman of ways and means, announced the entertainment in connection with the Broadway school, to be given in the High School auditorium January 25th, also to be repeated Saturday, January 26th.

Mrs. Pierce won in the picture vote, having most guests present. At the close of the business session, we were entertained with a selection from the school orchestra. Next on the program was a play by the second grade pupils, "Hansel and Gretel," a story in one of their readers, dramatised by their teacher. Three of the sixth grade girls in costume, very beautifully posed in a pantomime while others sang "Silent Night." The fourth grade displayed quite a little talent in "The Lacksay's Christmas Surprise." As there is so much need for conservation, it was decided to discontinue refreshments except on special occasions.

The next meeting will be fathers' night, which will be one of our special occasions, so we will expect all the fathers as well as the mothers to be present.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB TO HAVE MATINEE JINKS

Instead of the legislative program listed in the Year Book for January 8th, a social time is being arranged for the Tuesday Afternoon Club members on that date. The program committee is very mysterious about the details and will not give out any information aside from the announcement that numerous surprises are in store for those who attend the next meeting. It is to be strictly a family affair and members are requested not to use their guest cards. New members should make an especial effort to be present, as the entertainment will afford an opportunity for better acquaintance, it is stated. There are vague rumors of a darkened hall and candle-light procession, which all sounds very spooky and terrifying, but Mrs. Ramsay states that there is really no cause for alarm as the "stunts" will all be harmless though amusing in the extreme. A large attendance is desired and to this end let every member who sees this notice pass the word along and urge fellow members to be present.

The legislative program announced in the Year Book for January 8, will be given January 22, instead, when Dr. Jessie A. Russell, legislation and political science curator, will provide the speaker.

PROGRAM POSTPONED

The program announced for this afternoon at the Cerritos Avenue school has been postponed until next Friday afternoon.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Saturday. Heavy frost in exposed places. Northeasterly winds.

EXEMPTION WORK

ALL FORMER PHYSICAL CLASSIFICATIONS ARE SET ASIDE

Chairman Lanterman says that while the Board has no disposition to encourage malicious spying upon registrants, members would very much appreciate outside help in securing information about those upon whose statements a doubt has been cast. "The police officers of the city and the Department of Justice in Los Angeles are all instructed to afford us what help we need," said he, "but it is an imposition on them as well as on us to ask them to investigate everybody on whom a doubt has been cast. Only as a matter of justice to all registrants is the Board asking this help, because the liar or the slacker is doing others an irreparable damage if he gets by with his deception; somebody else must take his place."

Headquarters of the Exemption Board were crowded with registrants Thursday evening and members of the legal advisory board had no opportunity to loaf. Mr. Mackay was assisted by Attorneys Frederick Baker, H. P. Goodwin, and R. D. White. In the clerical department Misses Margaret and Vera McPherson and Clara Midcalf, all employed in the city schools, were at work preparing Questionnaires to be sent out today. This morning Olin Spencer, A. S. Mackay and W. R. Flint looked after registrants.

The chairman stated that clerical work in connection with the sending out of Questionnaires is practically completed and that the classification work is up to date. The Board has four days after a Questionnaire is received in which to make classification and report.

A list of persons in default has not yet been made but will be in a day or two, and then those who have failed to answer their Questionnaires to date will be listed as "Class One" men, without any privilege of appealing.

"If a man has been classed as a 'Class One' man now, who was previously rejected on physical grounds, the former rejection is of no avail," declared the chairman. "He has to undergo physical examination again, and the examination will be quite different from the former one in going more into the details of the man's physical state and it will take into account his liability to recover from his physical disability. In fact all of the old physical classifications are set aside."

HOME MISSIONARY MEETING

One of the most interesting meetings of the year was held Thursday afternoon in the church parlors by the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First Methodist church. After the usual business was disposed of Mrs. T. A. Wright had direction of the program. Mrs. Jordan held the attention of all by her splendid resume of the first two chapters of the study book "Under Our Flag," dealing with the negro problem of the South, after which Mrs. Henry Johnston and Mrs. T. A. Wright sang a duet. Miss Brockman read a leaflet on the "Negro of the South," the meeting closing with the use of the enigmas from the "Home Missions."

BUSINESS MAN'S LUNCH

Mrs. John P. Boettner, who is chairman of the regular Saturday lunches served at Red Cross headquarters on Brand boulevard next to the Post Office, has planned as a special feature of the service tomorrow a thirty-five cent "Business Man's Lunch," the kind of a meal which will appeal to business men and which will be served from 12 o'clock on. There will also be an a la carte bill of fare.

Food donations will be welcome as usual, for the more food given, the greater will be the profit for the Red Cross.

DON HAMILTON TRANSFERRED

Miss Gladys Hamilton, teacher in the Acacia street school, reports that her brother, Don Hamilton, has been transferred from Fort Bliss, near El Paso, to Fort Green in North Carolina. The Hamilton family had hoped he would be granted a Christmas furlough and be permitted to spend it in Tropic. They were greatly disappointed when the news of his transfer reached them.

WILL IT RAIN?

"Do you think it will rain?" is the usual interrogation that is exchanged when people meet on the street these days. There has not been a rain since the beginning of the season.

SMALL CITY DAILY NEWSPAPERS GOING OUT OF BUSINESS

Not many months ago the South Pasadena Record, daily, changed its frequency of publication to twice a week, the proprietor claiming that after careful auditing of his books the discovery was made that the daily was being published at a loss.

Now the Alhambra Daily Advocate is being changed to a twice-a-week publication on account of a lack of financial support. These two papers are published in cities of about the same population as Glendale. Now what about the financial support of the Evening News? The subscription part is all right, but the advertising patronage is not all right. For more than four years the Evening News has been published as a daily paper and a thousand thanks to the men and women who have so loyally given it support in every way possible, but the time is near at hand when the question of having a daily paper in Glendale will be put up to the citizens of the community. As was previously stated, the circulation is all right, and the need of a live little daily newspaper in a community of this size is evident, but the important question arises: Who is to foot the bill?

If a daily newspaper continues in Glendale it must have back of it an organized effort that will educate business men to spend money for publicity through the columns of the community daily rather than a hundred other ways money is now being paid out for publicity.

The question will be put up fairly and squarely before the people ere long. In the meantime think it over.

MONDAY—THRIFT DAY

Work will commence Monday for the sale of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates and will be continued with earnestness during the balance of the year 1918. On Monday, which has been designated "Thrift Day" for Glendale, Tropic and Casa Verdugo, all of the school students will have explained to them just what the campaign is, the difference between the Stamps and the Certificates and their part in helping our Government to "Win the War."

Through the patriotic co-operation of the First National Bank, the Bank of Glendale, the Glendale Savings Bank, and the First National Bank of Tropic a revolving fund of $550.00 has been furnished without interest to allow the teachers of all these schools to keep on hand an ample supply of Thrift Stamps. In addition to this fund the Banks will also keep these stamps and the War Savings Certificates on sale for the general public, as will also the post offices and letter carriers keep supplies on hand at all times.

On Monday the High School teachers will explain the Thrift Campaign and the Grammar and Intermediate Schools will assemble during the day to hear talks from E. K. Barnes and Harry W. Chase, who have the management of this territory for the Campaign, who will explain how even the young students can have a real part in helping the United States win the war.

Prof. G. U. Moyses of the High School, Supervisor R. D. White of the Glendale Schools and Prof. Dickerson of the Tropic Schools have all entered heartily into the work of their students financing the Government and they are sure that the Glendale showing when the year is completed will compare very favorably with other cities of its size. During the former Liberty Loan campaigns a number of the High School and younger students of the schools became Liberty Bond owners, and before the Thrift Campaign has become actually started in the schools a number of the students of both schools have become investors either in the Thrift Stamps or the War Savings Certificates.

During the year it is planned to hold contests between the different classes, grades and schools for the sale of these stamps and all of the teachers in the schools have expressed their desire and willingness to see the Glendale Thrift Campaign a success.

MR. HOOVER REPLIES

It would have been little short of the marvelous had Mr. Hoover, the Food Administrator, escaped criticism from those whose private interests have been unfavorably affected by his policy. High as he stands in the esteem of the people of the United States, the fact that representatives of any of the food trusts, combines, or monopolies had found it in their hearts to praise his methods would have created widespread surprise and, perhaps, caused no little suspicion. The attack upon him by Claus Spreckels, president of the Federal Refining Company, was nothing more than the public expected, and its only effect was to establish Mr. Hoover still more firmly in the confidence of the people.

Mr. Spreckels has complained and charged before a Senate committee of investigation, of which Senator Reed is chairman, that Mr. Hoover mismanaged the sugar situation, and Mr. Hoover has thus far been denied an opportunity of replying to this complaint and allegation before the committee. Consumers of sugar, however, who have been able to purchase the commodity, although in small quantities only, at a fairly reasonable standard price thus far during the period of the shortage, when in ordinary circumstances prices would have been run up to the point of extortion by those in control of the market, have not needed the Hoover statement that has just come through the White House to convince them that there has neither been mismanagement nor dishonest management on the part of the Food Administration.

But the facts presented in this statement are, nevertheless, of interest and value, and they have the merit, also, of being simple and clear. Prior to the outbreak of the war the Allies produced much of the sugar they consumed, either at home or in their colonies, and made up by imports from Germany any deficit they found. In those times they took only 300,000 tons annually from the Western Hemisphere. Since its Food Administration was created, in August last, the United States has exported to the Allies 110,356 tons of refined sugar, and, in the same period, Cuba has shipped to Europe 246,133 tons of the raw product, which, under normal conditions, would have been shipped to the United States. These figures represent just the amount of the sugar shortage in the latter coun-

LOSS REDEEMED

TROPICO CLUB MEMBERS TELL
CHRISTMAS EXPERIENCE
WHEN PROGRAM FAILS

The meeting of the Tropico Thursday Afternoon Club at the home of Mrs. Mary Ayers, on Palmer avenue, proved a pleasant disappointment, and the seeming paradox will be understood when explanation is made that Dr. Maude Wilde, who was to have been the speaker of the afternoon was prevented from coming by serious illness in her family. The word came too late to re-arrange the program, so instead of the instructive talk the doctor would have given, members present gave their Christmas and New Year experiences.

Mrs. Edwin Virden told of the simple, old fashioned Christmas which she ordained for her family, to the dismay of her daughters, but which turned out all right and proved a very jolly affair. She has been in the habit of providing as part of the Christmas feast certain German cakes, purchased for the occasion; but this year they were omitted as being unpatriotic and a delicious substitute was found in "Rocks" made from a recipe in the Club Cook Book.

New Year's day Mr. and Mrs. Virden allowed themselves to forget they were parents and went to Los Angeles for a holiday dinner at a cafe and then to the theatre. They had such a good time they made a New Year resolution to do it oftener.

Mrs. Ayers, the hostess, told of a quiet Christmas at home with Mr. Ayers, of their nice Christmas dinner and of calls from old friends in the afternoon.

Mrs. K. E. Hollingsworth described a nice family Christmas party and the Hoover dinner she prepared for fourteen guests.

Miss Ellen B. Churchill gave an entertaining account of a two-day visit to Greenwood Inn, Riverside with her friend Miss Moulton, in repetition of a similar trip three years ago. They arrived Christmas try. No more sugar has been exported or diverted from the United States than, with the rigid practice of economy, could be spared. There has been a sugar shortage, but there has been no sugar "famine" in the United States. The Food Administration is justified in claiming that it has handled the situation with the view of sustaining the morale of Great Britain and France, where the sugar ration has been extremely low. Even with the exportations from the United States into those countries, the supply has been reduced in England to twenty-four pounds a year for each person, and in France to fourteen pounds, as against a consumption in the United States of fifty-five pounds.

The intimation that the Food Administration has favored the Allies unduly at the cost of consumers in the United States is a shameful perversion of the truth. The Hoover policy has been displeasing to great sugar interests evidently because it made it impossible for those in control of the commodity to extort twenty-five to thirty cents a pound for sugar from the consumers. The householders of the United States are more than $200,000,000 in, while the sugar barons are more than $200,000,000 out, as a result of Hoover's "mismanagement."

The more of this kind of "mismanagement" these householders can get, the better they will like it.—Christian Science Monitor.

UNION HOURS UNKNOWN TO U. S. ARMY ENGINEERS

By W. S. Forrest

What an American union labor man can do when it's for his country and not a corporation he's serving is demonstrated here.

Working in the big railway shops in France is a unit of the U. S. Army Engineers, recruited principally from one of the best known railroads running into New York. The men came from the Eastern railroad shops where the repair work is done. Every man was a member of the union at home. His union prescribed how many hours a day he should work, his wages and holidays.

In France today these expert shopmen are repairing locomotives from 6:30 a. m. until 7 p. m. with an hour off for dinner.

Working beside the American shopmen are French civilian shopmen. The French shopmen work leisurely and talk a great deal, taking in addition several breathing spells along with eating spells. At eight o'clock he has breakfast, usually bread and wine. This follows the little breakfast he ate at home early in the morning. At noon he takes an hour off to eat bread and cheese with red wine. Four o'clock brings another meal of bread and wine. The American shopmen work at the usual American pressure without rest periods and with a single meal at noon.

The result of American labor in the local shops has been that broken down locomotives are getting scarce on this part of the French railway system. On the other hand railroad officials are busy trying to keep the shops supplied with frayed locomotives needing mending.

Men who would vote for a strike at the first effort of a corporation to infringe the union's rules in America are working for army pay here today without a grumble. In fact they are satisfied.

"What do the men think of the work and the hours?" I asked a young lieutenant who used to be foreman in the Pennsylvania shops at Jersey City.

"Well, it was pretty hard until we got used to it," he said. "Now it isn't so bad. The hours remind the men of how easy we were having it back home with the old eight hour day. We wouldn't do it for the Pennsylvania railroad. But this is another matter. All of us realize that it's for Uncle Sam and we're all satisfied to work any hours to beat the Germans. I hope the people at home realize what most of us have given up to come over here and work. First, most every one of us had a good eight hour job. Second, in my case, and it's the same with some others I know, I've got a mother and wife and child back in Jersey City who've seen me every day without a miss. I'm kind of homesick and I suppose they would like to see me, but a fellow has to put all that aside when it's his country."

Within a few weeks, the American shopmen quartered here will leave to take over brand new shops, exclusively American, in another part of France.

John Collage who was injured in a motorcycle accident, is recuperating, though is still very lame and sore from strains and bruises. He is under the care of a physician who is confident he has sustained no serious hurt. The camp officers at Dead Man's Island have extended his furlough until he is well enough to return in comfort, and Mrs. Collage is thankful to have the privilege of caring for him at home. She states that the accident occurred in Hollywood at the junction of Los Felis Road and Vermont avenue where there was a congestion of traffic and where John was run into by an automobile driven by a Mr. Miller. Witnesses of the accident are ready to testify that John was where he should be under the traffic regulations and it is probable that the damage to his machine will be adjusted out of court.

AN INTERESTING RANCH

Dr. A. M. Duncan, of 307 San Fernando boulevard, his daughters Lois and Carol and Miss Ida Myers, had a delightful auto trip New Year's afternoon to the Russell Ranch near Ventura. Miss Myers describes it as a very wonderful estate of some 6000 acres diversified by hills and canyons and studded with beautiful live oaks. There are several dwelling on the property but the main ranch house where the party was entertained, is especially interesting. Mr. Russell is quite a collector of Indian curios and has carefully preserved those he has found on his property. In his living room is a large fireplace built of cobblestones picked up on the ranch, and of petrified wood. Embedded in the masonry is the half of an Indian bowl also unearthed on the ranch. A quite wonderful and very perfect bowl likewise discovered on the property, which is of a material resembling marble and is very large and smooth, was exhibited to them by Mr. Russell who believes it was brought there by other Indians in trade as it in no way resembles native Indian work or materials.

MISS DOUGLAS ASKS CO-OPERATION

Newspapers will be collected Saturday, January 5, by the Salvage Department of the Red Cross. Let us start the New Year with the biggest collection of newspapers, magazines, cardboard and wrapping paper that we have ever had. We ought to realize about $65 on the day's work.

Will the people who are saving us their paper please leave it out all day as some of the machines will have to go in the afternoon and we are anxious not to miss anything. Up to date we have turned into the Red Cross through this department a little over $400. About $100 of this came from donations and the sale of Red Cross roses.

We have asked that Washington issue a decoration for the young people who have shown especial self-denial and industry in that service of the Red Cross that is least pleasant. I understand that Washington has refused a similar request from another city, which asked for the special pin before performing any service that called for such a thing. The greatest argument that we can possibly put forth in our claim for such an honor is the money that we turn into the Red Cross treasury; the larger that amount the more attention our request will receive from the National Red Cross who are already so busy caring for the safety of our army that they will naturally refuse to be interrupted by anything that will not directly and materially contribute to that end.

We may have to remind Washington a number of times, but if we just keep on as we are going now we will be sure to win. We must win, we owe it to the children who have served so loyally and unselfishly to see that they get this recognition and we shall not fail.

M. DOUGLAS.

 ing on them for care, they learn to serve humanity when they grow older, and in an easy comfortable way that a pet hater can never acquire. Who can say that the home is not the nation's training camp? Think of the joy of hundreds of boys returning from the battlefield to be welcomed home by the same comfortable pets they left behind when they were called to duty.

Nearly all of our soldiers own pets we must remember, and no one could be heartless enough to destroy them while their masters are giving their lives for their country. And now let us come to the point of the whole question. It is simply that food may be conserved is it not? Then let us consider for a moment the expense of keeping a pet. Six cents a day is the estimate our friend gives. Are pets worth so much? Yes. Many times over, but this estimate was made before war times, and cats like children can have their appetites trained. Now many a child takes his bucket to the cafe or other public eating place and it is filled with scraps that would otherwise be wasted, and his pet costs not one cent to feed! Again our market men are very good about scraps that human beings could not conserve, like heads and tails of fish, etc., these things all make good food for cats and while it may be some trouble to call for these things and people may notice that food for pets is called for. We cannot say that more thought is given the cat than the child, for children are expected to eat the food furnished for the family, and the calling for separate food for the pet shows that the family is not giving food that they could eat.

By all means children should be taught to economize and to be unselfish, but after you have talked to him and reasoned (?) with him, when you ask him if he is willing to sacrifice his pet because it must eat food if he is truthful he will say No, for he knows as well as you know that you have not brought a "poor little child into your home, and had it eat what the cat eats, and he knows you never will.

You may as well say to the mother of an unfortunate little "half-wit" that the child will only consume food and never be of use, so let us put it to sleep. Would she do it? Nonsense! We all want to save food but what about all the candy and ice cream the children eat daily? One all-day sucker and an ice cream cone make six cents!

And better health for the kiddie, too.

Now the cat tax seems to be the great aim of people who do not like pets, but what has that to do with food supplies? When the rains come there will be more milk, the meat problem for pets is taken care of, and what has this tax to do with wheat? Let us be fair. It is the duty of every town to take care of its homeless cats and dogs but be sure they are homeless. Do not take your neighbor's property. The dogs can be trained for service at the front, and will be glad to be cared for by someone. And as far as saving food is concerned, why not save on moving pictures and candy and ice cream and have more wheatless days than are required and more meatless days than you are forced to observe. Make some personal sacrifice. Why can't men smoke less? Think of the amount of money that goes up in smoke daily. It would help win all right. Why are not smokers cured as our drug fiends are before the government can use them? If all the land used in raising tobacco in the U. S. were used for raising wheat there would be food enough for all our needs and there is no reason why so much of our land should be used for a useless, brain destroying thing like tobacco. However, as long as this is done let no person who does not care for pets question another's rights to do so. No one should hide a narrow, lean soul behind the statements of our good statesmen. If anyone hates pets, for the sake of the poor animal don't try to keep one, but if anyone can afford it and cares to do so they will surely be reasonable as to its feed at this time. This was written for the cause of all small pets by a true American.

L. PERLE J. OLDS.

FROM FAR HAITI

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Moore, of 1008 1/2 W. Broadway, enjoyed a brief visit today from their nephew Freeman Lang, formerly known as Freeman Lang Post, of Los Angeles, who entered the Marine Service of the United States three years ago and has since been stationed at Haiti. He has been included in the quota of men loaned the Haitian government by the United States to assist in training its army, and he is now Second Lieutenant in the Gendarmie d' Haiti. His duties include policing the island and training of the native troops. Though not a native son he has lived in California for seventeen years and feels like a native. This is his first trip to the state since his enlistment. He says Haiti has a very nice climate, neither so cold nor so hot as Southern California, but a more even temperature. Some of the islands have a considerable European population. Not so Haiti, which is populated almost exclusively by natives. While there are some fine families of education and culture, the bulk of the people are very ignorant and degraded and very low in the social scale. That appears to be the only drawback to the loca-

TROPICO RED CROSS

The Mother and Daughter Circle of the Tropico Red Cross Auxiliary met Thursday evening in the city hall for a short session at which wool was given out to knitters who presented themselves.

Mrs. F. V. Bacon, the chairman, brought good news which was enthusiastically applauded, viz. that the Los Angeles Red Cross Chapter with which the Tropico organization is affiliated, has made the auxiliary a present of twenty pounds of wool and an additional present of a $100 credit. This, with the money in the local treasury which was realized from the Red Cross bazaar and which will be in the neighborhood of $300 when all returns are in, puts the Auxiliary in excellent financial condition.

A Junior Red Cross which will take in the many loyal little workers in the public schools, who have already made a record in connection with the bazaar, is to be organized right away.

Also, a class in surgical dressings will be established under the instruction of two very competent members who by their training and experience are especially fitted to lead in this work.

The open evening meeting of the month will be held at the City Hall in Tropico January 17th when several important items of business will receive attention, and when an address will be made by some well known speaker, probably Dr. James A. B. Scherer.

LOSS REDEEMED

 and had a fine Christmas dinner at the parsonage.

Miss Ida Myers gave a pretty story of a family Christmas which revolved around the little folk in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Hillman, and of the big dinner at Grandpa Duncan's. Mrs. S. E. Richardson had enjoyed her usual quiet Christmas with husband and children and it sounded very delightful as she described it, for it included an auto ride and partial ascent of Mount Wilson.

Mrs. A. J. Becker had planned a very modest Christmas and had written all friends in the habit of remembering her not to let their gifts exceed 25 cents. All disobeyed and sent her more expensive remembrances than she ever received before.

Chickenpox had invaded the home of Mrs. J. W. Ashton and one child was in quarantine, while her little son Wesley was just released from it. It was out of the question to invite neighboring children in to share the Christmas tree but they found they could be very happy without guests, and in the effort to make Wesley's Christmas a success his father made a wonderful new and improved automobile out of an old one, to the delight of the small boy. There was a delicious Christmas dinner at Grandfather Ashton's on Park avenue, and then the grandparents returned the visit and viewed the tree.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bullis had expected to spend Christmas alone and then were surprised with Christmas guests who were very welcome, but for whom Mrs. Bullis had at once to make dinner preparations. She gave an amusing account of her experiences in trying to cook an a la Hoover meal and at the same time entertain the company, of how the pie burned and the squash scorched but when served it was one of the jolliest dinners ever eaten under her roof. The next meeting of the club will be held January 17th at the home of Mrs. Wesley Bullis, the club's president, and the program, which will be musical, will be furnished by Mrs. Bessie Bartlett Frankel.

THE LOWLY PEANUT

Now that land conservation is so important, it would seem that, diverse as California's products are already, a still greater diversity is possible. Many vacant lots and much vacant acreage could be used for bee culture or peanut growing. T. J. Spradling of Elsworth, Texas, who is visiting his son, O. H. Spradling, of 1300 W. Ninth street, has set forth the varied uses of the peanut in the following little narrative:

"My name is peanut. I am a clever little fellow. In Texas farmers plant me for the use of man, beast and fowls and for this purpose I am second to none. When planted on rich, loose soil and I receive a reasonable amount of rain, with good cultivation I yield from 60 to 100 bushels of nuts. They use my plants, after plowing me out of the ground for the nuts, for hay. They stack me and then thresh me out as wheat, bale the hay, take the nuts to a mill where they grind me for butter, or press me for oil. The meal is put in 100 lb. sacks, which sell for $2.50 each. My oil is next in value to olive oil, not to be surpassed in cooking purposes and sells for $2 a gallon. If I get a reasonable amount of rain or irrigation, I make two tons of hay per acre, worth from $25 to $30 a ton. It is just as good as alfalfa and when baled without being threshed, I am corn, hay and bran combined. Nothing will fatten hogs or other stock faster than peanut meal. I am the farmer's best friend."

LA CANADA.

Here's something from Emerson to give us to think this New Year. "I find the gayest castles in the air that were piled, far better for comfort and use than the dungeons in the air that are daily dug and caverned out by grumbling discontented people."

Mrs. Lillian Cooper and daughter Helen Elizabeth, are here from Weston, Mass. They will make their home permanently in Pasadena. Mrs. Cooper is a niece of H. L. Cooper.

Dol Williams reports a strayed bird dog, spotted like a coach dog. Owner can claim the same by proving ownership.

The Road Department has looked after Montrose hill, which is now coated with sand on the desired places.

Messrs. Hall and Blackman, poultry dealers of Los Angeles have purchased a portion of the Abbey acres and leased the rest. The early part of this month they will fix it up for their business. Many fine turkeys are in evidence now.

Mrs. A. M. Guidinger, of San Fernando, was welcomed by as many friends as time would permit on Thursday.

Bishop Cantwell of the diocese of Los Angeles, has appointed services of prayer for rain.

J. G. Bulloch was at his La Canada home with his family last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Murphy gave a dinner dance New Year's eve. Guests were there from Los Angeles and Pasadena. The army and navy were seen in fair numbers.

Dr. Scott has been physically unfit for some time but is improving a little.

D. J. Green is visiting his old Iowa friends. He will be gone about two months. However welcome he is made, California will keep his allegiance.

As John Welty was walking along the avenue a motorcyclist ran into him. John's legs got well tangled up, he described a few revolutions. No great hurt sustained. Fortunate John.

Some more of our young men have received their Questionnaires. We may lose more of our boys.

A serious accident occurred on Michigan avenue at the corner of New York street. Three of the occupants who were Glendale boys were injured. All three will recover.

Mention should be made of Lieut. Robert Dennis Murray. While he cannot be claimed as a La Canada boy, we are interested in him because his mother Mrs. Joanna Murray, a devoted Red Cross worker and his sister, Mrs. Fenton Knight, live here. Lieut. Murray enlisted with Squadron A of New York and went with them to Texas. He spent six months in the First Officers' Training Camp at Plattsburg. From there he went to Camp Wadsworth with the Cavalry. He has not yet received orders to go to the front.

Hubert Bentley looked every bit a soldier on his big white horse in the Rose Parade.

Only three La Canada Red Cross women were in the parade New Year's. Mrs. Joanna Murray, Mrs. H. L. Cooper and Mrs. Ashworth. They marched with the Pasadena Chapter.

Red Cross workers were obliged to leave the school house early Wednesday. The gauze was used up and money is scarce. There is a need for money all the time because gauze for surgical dressings is being purchased all the time, made up and sent away. Three new memberships were turned in today. That helps. Someone else do it.

On the night of January 19th a benefit entertainment will be given at the school house—followed by a dance at La Canada Hall. Look for particulars next week.

Our Columbia of the Community Tree Miss Florence Pate is in bed with a heavy cold.

Carson Ricks, a brother of Mrs. Walter Murphy, has been given the Croix de guerre for bravery in the rescue of the wounded under heavy bombardment. Mr. Ricks is in the American Ambulance service in France. He and an assistant went forward to the rescue of the wounded. They succeeded in getting four into the ambulance, the Germans shelling them unmercifully all the time. They escaped being hit until on the way back when a big shell struck the ambulance, killing outright the aide who sat on the seat beside Mr. Ricks, wounding the latter in the arm which since has been operated on three times. Mrs. Murphy is in receipt of a cable saying her brother is sent to the hospital again and if nothing more can be done for him he will receive his military discharge and be home some time in January.

Mrs. Murphy has another brother in service, Lieut. H. L. Ricks, Jr. He was at Camp Kearny for some time but is now stationed at Camp Lewis.

Mr. Murphy has two brothers in service. Donald is a member of the Ambulance Corps stationed at Allentown, Pa. Stanwood is in the navy and about to be made an ensign.

Another is a dry mash mixture. The circular shows that from a flock of 300 one can get an income of $1.70 per hen.

Supervisor Dodge has a plan to lessen the cost on Farm Advisers. He aims to substitute inspectors for the adviser and his assistants.

Mrs. Seright and committee on Christmas tree, report an unused amount of $7.45 which will be turned over to the Red Cross.

Word has recently been received from Tyler B. Van Degrift, one of La Canada soldiers at Camp Lewis, that he has been very nicely entertained by the Tacoma Mountaineers in some of their walking and climbing tours among the mountains and glaciers near American Lake. As Mr. Van Degrift, now 1st Sergeant, was an active member of the Sierra Club and participated in their many journeys through the mountains of Southern California, he has been especially pleased with the courtesy shown him by the northern club and the opportunity to enjoy the forests and scenery of Washington.

urday at 12:30 in the Highland Park Holiness Church. He leaves a beloved wife, two sons, Alfred Jr., and James and a daughter, Mrs. Lottie Reeves, who were at his bedside when he passed away. Tuesday night, the first picture for 1918, Baby Marie Osborne, in "Twin Kiddies." She is very little but oh my she is just as good in a dual role as some bigger ones. No one seems to understand or love Fay, the little spoiled granddaughter of William Van Loan, a hard-hearted capitalist, but the old family butler, who tells her fairy tales. In Powhatan, a mining town controlled by Van Loan, Bessie, a sweet motherless child of Jaspur Hunt, a mine foreman lives with their housekeeper, Mrs. Flannigan. The mining company raises the prices of food at the only store; the men resent this, and failing to get increased pay, go on a strike. Van Loan refuses to yield and decides to use scab labor. Scenes of violence follow and, compelled to go to Powhatan, Van Loan takes Fay with him. On an outing Fay meets Bessie, plays with her and for fun changes dresses. Separated, the unusual likeness deceives the Van Loan governess who supposes Bessie to be Fay and whisks her away. Mrs. Flannigan finds Fay sick from exposure and takes her to the Hunt home.

Business hurriedly recalls Van Loan, and mistaken for a changed Fay, Bessie is given no chance to explain, but revolutionizes the Van Loan household by her sweetness. Hunt, the real leader of the strikers, is summoned to meet Van Loan. During an unsuccessful arbitration meeting Bessie comes to bid her "grandfather" good night and seeing her father rushes to his arms. Hunt, busy with the strike supposes her to be ill at home. They are all dumbfounded. Later Bessie, given a chance to explain, tells how she and Fay changed clothes. Looking up the family trees, the likeness of the "Twin Kiddies" is explained and completely won over Van Loan yields to the men and Hunt is made mine superintendent.
